OLUWO AWARD FOR UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH

Dear Young Researcher,

Are you an undergraduate student in any of the Nigeria University or Polytechnic/other specialized institution of higher learning and training in Polymer Science, Technology and Engineering? Are you innovative? And are you ready to showcase your innovative research to the rest of the world? Then the Polymer Institute of Nigeria has a credible platform suiting enough for your aspirations.

The Oluwo Award Platform therefore invites you to register your innovative undergraduate research for free and you could become a star winner and your innovation gets noticed.

How do we propose that you do this? By participating in the National Oluwo Award Competition of innovative research specially designed for undergraduates. This year's Oluwo Award Competition is scheduled to hold between the 23rd and 25th of October, 2019 at the Conference Hall of Nigeria's Premier University; the University of Ibadan. Three winners for the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd position prizes would emerge and you could be one of them.

The Competition is an annual event powered by the Polymer Institute of Nigeria to partner with government at encouraging quality undergraduate research in the field of Polymer and also to honour the late Chief Oluwo who had contributed a great deal to the progress and ideals of the Institute.

The National President of the Institute; the result oriented Prof. Paul Mamza, FPIN, FICCON, FCSN has expressed his goodwill and he is determined to give every participant a fantastic and warm welcome at this year's event. He has guaranteed a friendly and comfortable atmosphere for you to express your innovative research. Expect the President's undaunted assurances.

If you are interested, please take a chance at seizing this prestigious opportunity to showcase your innovative research and to make your Institution which you represent a proud one. I am expecting to see you at Ibadan 2019.

Please do accept my assurances of warmest regards for and on behalf of the Polymer Institute of Nigeria - PIN.

Dr. Friday Patrick Momoh, MPIN, CENG. TECH - COREN
General Secretary, Polymer Institute of Nigeria
